

School of Architecture, Planning and Landscape

Architecture Building
The Quadrangle
Newcastle upon Tyne
NE1 7RU United Kingdom

Newcastle University in collaboration with INTREPID¹ and *non-architecture*²
Univer(c)ity - the Future Space and Place of Knowledge:
Newcastle 16-18th January 2019

Draft Programme (rev.b):

Wednesday 16th January

- 4.00 pm Welcome and Tea and Coffee
- 4.30pm Opening event Wednesday 16th January, at the Literary and Philosophical Society, Newcastle [23 Westgate Road, Newcastle NE1 1SE]
- Introductions from the University, Intrepid and Non-Architecture
Prue Chiles, Olivia Bina
- 5.00pm Tour of the Literary and Philosophical Society and its importance as a library in the history of Newcastle
- 5.30pm Professor John Goddard - An Introduction to Newcastle - The civic university and place making, past present and future
- 6.15pm Professor Julie Sanders, deputy Vice Chancellor
Welcome, reception and drinks
- 7.15/7.30pm Dinner in the City@ the Bridge Tavern, under the bridge over the Tyne

¹ www.intrepid-cost.eu

² www.nonarchitecture.eu

Thursday 17th January: The Boiler House, Newcastle University

The talks will introduce scenarios and create structured discussion and ideas, that will then be enabled and visualised by different architects. Depending on numbers we will split into groups all considering the same scenarios.

9.00am start

9.15am Professor Roger Burrows

“School X - interdisciplinarity and the future University in today’s political climate - Academic values changing -

10.00 Building the scenarios introduction: method of working

Prue Chiles, Leo Care, Howard Evans

Scenarios framed by the talks and to be developed in the workshops

Scenario 1 - The Civic University - into the future.

What role should the City have in the University and vice versa

What role should the University have in the development of the city and region?

(The North)

The role of universities in society

The privatisation of universities

Discussion and briefing for workshops

10.30am Coffee

Scenario 2 - The knowledge economy, human knowledge into technology and industry

Trans and inter-disciplinarity - the end of disciplines

Making as a form of research, practice and industry

Digital and virtual environments in the future service of knowledge production

11.15am Talk 1 a provocation Professor Ali Madanipour - the nature of knowledge, its use in the economy, the implications of technological change, and its spatial expressions for the future university

Talk 2. a provocation Dr Martyn Dade Robertson - Making and maker communities as a way of learning – ideas from MIT on inside and outside the University

Discussion and briefing for workshops

1pm Lunch in the Armstrong rooms, near the Boiler house

2pm Scenario 3

Processes of decolonialisation taking place at the University of Cape Town.

The Post-Colonial University in the future.

Hybridisation, networks and commoning - other types of knowledge production - with some examples of from favelas in Rio de Janeiro,

Provocations from Prof. Henrietta Palmer Chalmers University, Gothenburg, Sweden

Prof. Iain Low University of Cape Town University and James Ayers, Chalmers University

Discussion and briefing for workshops

3.30pm Tea and coffee

3.45pm Choosing 1 of the 3 workshops:

Workshops will be enabled and drawn by non-architecture, CE+CA architects and the final year Masters architecture students and others.

These will begin to flesh out, debate and visualise the scenarios.

6pm Short presentation on the exhibited projects

Barras Bridge a new paradigm for the Civic Centre and the two universities by Masters students.

6.30pm Drinks reception and look at exhibition

[Also, judging of the final shortlisted and exhibited entries of the non-architecture competition (judges only)]

7.15pm for

7.30pm Dinner at the Northern Stage restaurant - (Upstairs.)

Friday 18th January

9.00am start

9.15am Talk Roger Hawkins Hawkins Brown Architects
Conceptualising and realising new university buildings –

10am Continuation of the 3 Workshops

11am mid-morning coffee

- 11.15 Continuation of the 3 Workshops
- 12.15 pm Short pin-up and presentation of developed scenarios for comments and discussion.
- 1.15pm Lunch in the Armstrong rooms, near the Boiler house
- 2pm Short summing up - Talk (tbc)
Presentation of non-architecture competition winners
Closing remarks on the symposium -
- 3.00pm Guided Tour of Newcastle Civic Centre